

Glossary

Cauchy equation:

An equation in which Right hand side of the differential equation has either a constant or a function of x only is called Cauchy linear differential equation.

Non-homogeneous:

An equation in which right hand side of the equation is not equal to zero is the non-homogeneous equation.