

SUMMARY

This episode deals with the aspects of scale and proportion, the difference between both aspects; the proportioning system that existed in history of architecture of various parts of the world and their significance. The lecture also gives examples of application of the proportion and scale from examples of other forms of arts other than architecture. Also the modern examples like the proportioning system the "Modulor" is illustrated in the lecture. And the reason behind the evolution of proportioning system is also illustrated.