

SUMMARY

This episode deals with the various elements of architecture (in terms of the basic constructional components of a building). This lecture details about the four elements Floor, Wall, Column and Roof. Their definition, the term's origin, their evolutionary significance, various attributes, functional significances; all has been discussed with architectural examples.