

Objectives

To learn about

- to Understand the aspect of circulation (movement) in architecture.
- to know varieties of possibilities of movement within and outside a building.
- to know the applications of the above principles in architectural examples form history and contemporary time.