

GLOSSARY

Stress -

Stress can be defined as the force of resistance offered per unit cross section of the structure. The unit is N/mm^2 .

Strain -

Strain can be defined as the ratio of change in length to the original length of the object. Strain has no units.