

SUMMARY

This session learnt about the definition of frames, types of frames and the assumptions for the analysis of frames is explained. In addition to that the types of supports for the trusses and their reaction components is explained by means of simple diagrams. Further the analysis of the truss is explained by the method of joints