

Summary

In this lecture, simply supported beams subjected to several point loads and various load combinations will be analysed for shear force and bending moment.