

Assignment

1. Case study of construction site at time of concrete production to understand the process.
2. Continued live study of the various stages of concrete production, and also its handling, laying, compacting and curing.
3. Studying alternate concrete methods from the past as well as in research.
4. A list of energy efficient advantages and concerns of concrete to help study its value better.