

Objectives

To understand the building services role in building, create awareness for architects to gain knowledge on water supply sources, above and below ground, the significance of water quality and the requirements of good quality of water.

To study on the impurities present in water and the water quality tests to be done to counter the impurities. To understand the water treatment process, step by step in a detail and its need before distribution.