

Summary

This lecture is to understand the various joints in sewer pipes with their basic requirements. The need for the ventilation of sewers and the various methods of ventilation are elaborated. Design and construction details about septic tanks and its different disposal methods of effluent is explained.