

Objectives

- To understand what is concrete and reinforced cement concrete
- To know the reasons for using steel as a material in RCC structures
- To understand the concept of working stress design method
- To understand the concept of ultimate load design method
- To know the differences between working stress and ultimate load design method.