

Objectives

To analyse the singly reinforced rectangular section using stress-strain relationship of concrete and steel and followings can be found

- total compressive force offered by concrete
- total tensile force offered by steel reinforcement
- actual depth of neutral axis
- limiting values of depth of neutral axis for various grades of steel