

Summary

This lecture explained the method of designing the flanged section and aimed to design the reinforcement required for the section when the neutral axis lies inside and outside the flange by using Roorkee's design handbook for reinforced concrete by doing some worked examples.