

Summary

This lecture explained about the method of designing a one way continuous floor slab using moment coefficients given in IS 456:2000 and aimed to design the size of slab and reinforcement required for the slab by doing worked example.