

Summary

In this lecture, a worked example have been carried out to design two way slab restrained on all the four sides which have adequate provision to resist torsion at corners using design guidelines as per IS 456:2000 and the reinforcement detailing have been discussed as per SP34.