

Summary

This lecture discussed about design of simply supported circular slab using a worked example and determined the reinforcement required for it.