Summary

This lecture discussed about the analysis of doubly reinforced flanged section under working stress design method and aimed to determine the moment of resistance of flanged section when the neutral axis lies inside and outside the flange.