

SUMMARY

1. Importance of relationship between site and its context
2. Various environmental factors affecting the site conditions
3. Classification of various natural factors and their contribution to site conditions.
4. Hydrological cycle and its importance