

Summary

In this lecture horizontal distribution of air conditioning services for large buildings are discussed. The different ways in which large buildings shall be given air conditioning and the various systems are also explained.