

SUMMARY

In this session we learn about the HSBC Headquarters and Hearst Tower both are really marvelous buildings again by the famed starchitect Sir Norman Foster. The client's brief in the HSBC bank cannot be forgotten by any architect. How often does an architect get a client that says – "build me the best bank in the world"? And Foster's reply to that statement was even more breathtaking.

Hearst tower again was simple genius. With all the structural innovations, he was able to also get the LEED gold rating for this skyscraper.
