

SUMMARY

The lecture is the forerunner to this series of lectures that deal with Vernacular architecture. A set of images are analyzed to give a visual picture of what VA is to get an immediate understanding. The definition and etymology are listed and studied. Also discussed is what makes vernacular architecture not professional architecture that is practiced today. A broad study of vernacular architecture, influences and the various typology of VA are discussed further.