

Summary

The lecture gives the basic introduction to earthquakes, associated terms and the need and importance to study and understand earthquake resistant architecture. The lecture discusses in detail about the structure of the Earth and its four major parts. Seismic waves and its types are discussed. It gives you an overview of the plate tectonic theory with continental drift and its implications. The lecture then touches upon the Seismic Zones in India.