

Summary

The lecture discusses various historical earthquake experiences and based on the same the various planning considerations of the earth quake resistant architecture are discussed. The earth quake effects on the ground are discussed and understood. Soil rupture, liquefaction and landslides are discussed in detail.