

Summary

Building Configuration and its impact on seismic resistance is discussed and understood. Horizontal and Vertical reinforcement in walls are discussed and their implications are understood. The lecture also covers the concept of Inertia and seismic loads are discussed in detail. The lecture discusses the concept of ductility, deformability and damageability.