

GLOSSARY

Bosco: Italian term for a wooded grove within a garden.

Giardino Segreto: Secret Garden – A secluded and enclosed garden room commonly found in villa gardens of the Renaissance and Seventeenth century.

Hedge: Compactly planted shrubs or low growing trees with dense foliage that is clipped so as to form a solid wall of greenery that acts as a boundary or screen

Parterre: Ground plane composed of patterned garden beds meant to be viewed from above.

Topiary: Art of training plants (typically evergreen shrubs and trees) into intricate or stylized shapes and forms