

Summary

This session will help us understand the importance of the phenomenon of urbanization and its impact on cities, planning and at the same time studying the pattern of new forms of development.