

FAQs

1. What is Thermal Comfort?

Thermal comfort is a state of mind! “That condition of mind which expresses satisfaction with thermal environment” (ASHRAE).

2. What are the factors that affect human’s thermal comfort?

- Environmental factors
- Physiological factors
- Psychological factors

3. Mention any three climatic variables which have direct relationship to air temperature?

- Temperature
- Humidity
- Air – movement

4. How to test sustainability during design process?

With the principles taught which are applied during the design process, software and tools are available to check the results; if the result produced is un-satisfactory the principle can be further studied for better results.