

Objectives

The lecture aims students to understand the emerging technology/trends in sustainability - Biomimicry which is further elaborates with examples showing its application.

The video also extends to cover in detail about renewable energy and non-renewable energy sources; aiming to create awareness to make early design decisions and its impact on the environment.