

Summary

This session discusses the use of conservation as a planning tool. It explains the importance of financial incentives and TDR. It further discusses the relationship between urban conservation and heritage tourism. It goes on to describe the nuances of conservation project management. The case study dealt with in this unit is Pondicherry.