

Summary

This session would lend you information different ways of management of housing community varying between contractual and self management. Then the presentation throws light on importance of community participation and various steps involved in the same. It also defines the purpose and on what basis would it be feasible. Technologies of construction are explored on three aspects namely conventional, appropriate and industrialized. New methods and materials for construction have been compiled with its advantages and disadvantages.