

Objectives

To study the formation and working of joints and the role they play in our body.