Basic Description of Tournament

F.A.Qs

Q1. What is a tournament?

A1. A tournament is a competition involving a relatively large number of competitors, all participating in a sport or game.

Q2. What is a tournament match?

A2. A tournament – match may involve multiple game-matches between the competitors. For example, in a Davis Cup tennis tournament, a tie between two nations involves five rubbers between the nations' players. The team that wins the most rubbers win the tie. In the later rounds of UEFA championship league of football, each fixture is played over two legs. The scores of each leg are added, and then the team with the higher aggregate scores wins the fixture, with away goals used as a tiebreaker and a penalty shoot out if away goals can not determine a winner of the game.

Q3. What is a group tournament?

A3. A group tournament, league, division or conference involves all competitors playing a number of fixtures. Points are awarded for each fixture, with competitors ranked based either on total number of points or average points per fixture. Usually each competitor plays an equal number of fixtures, in which case rankings by total points and by average points are equivalent.

Q4. What is multi-stage tournament?

A4. A group stage is a round-robin stage in a multi-stage tournament. The competitors are divided into multiple groups, which play separate round robin in parallel. Measured by a points- based ranking system, the top competitors in each group qualify for the next stage.

Q5. What is the system of play in Slovenian Basketball League?

A5. The top Slovenian basketball league has a unique system. In its first phase, 12 of the league's 13 clubs compete in a full home-and-away season, with the country's representative in the Euro league exempt. The league then splits. The top seven team are joined by the Euro league representative for a second home-and- away season, with no results carrying over from the first phase. These eight teams compete for four spots in a final playoff. The bottom five teams play their own home-and-away league, but their previous results do carry over. These teams are competing to avoid relegation, with the bottom team automatically relegated and the second-from- bottom team forced to play a mini-league with the second – and third- place teams from the second level for a place in the top league.
