

Summary

Students might be eligible for adapted physical education programme, regardless of disability, if they exhibit unique needs. IDEA and Section 504 of the rehabilitation Act of 1973 provide procedures for the modification of educational programs for student with disabilities .These individualized programs are spelled out in documents required by the legislation. Infant and toddler who meets the criteria established by IDEA may receive early intervention services under the act. These must be documented in an IFSP. Similarly individualized programme for qualified children (Elementary Schools, Middle School, High School and College & University) also are govern by IDEA. In this case, however, an individualized program is documented in IEP.