

Summary

Organization refers to process of setting up things or providing an orderly set-up of things. It may be public, private, formal/informal, service organization and others product organizations. In physical education and sports, the term (organization) is used in both contexts; for example, organization of intramural and extramural sport competitions, play-days, hikes and treks etc. (as a process); and organizational set-up (structure) of a University Department of Physical Education, Sports Authority of India or A Sports Club. SPDA Scheme is a decentralised effort in their direction. The Sports Authority of India has a number of sports schemes under implementation. SAI also has a scheme for promotion of sports in special areas, national coaching scheme etc. Organizations run on formal rules and procedures i.e. memorandum, statutes or constitution which invariably define inter alia, aim and objective. Coordination and cooperation are the main-stay of any good organization.

The various schemes developed by the Government of India are as follows:

1. State sports councils
2. A scheme of grants for promotion of Sports in universities/colleges
3. The scheme started in 1975 aims at promoting sports among women.
4. Sports Talent Search Scholarship Scheme
