

Objectives

On completion of this chapter, one should be able to:

- understand the concept of speed
- know the classification of speed
- understand how speed has wider application in all games and sports
- know the nature of developing speed ability.