

FAQs

1. What is the governing body of badminton and when it was developed?
Ans:- The governing of badminton is badminton world federation. It was developed in the 19th century
2. From where did the name badminton is derive from?
Ans:- The name badminton is derives from the Duke of Beaufort's in ton Hussein Gloucestershire.
3. What is the full court diagonal distance of a badminton court?
Ans:- The full court diagonal distance of badminton court is 14.723m.
4. What is forehand grip mainly use for?
Ans:- The forehand grip is mainly used for forehand overhead shots. It is an easy grip to learn, and also provide a useful reference point for learning the other grips.
5. What is the aim of high service?
Ans:- The aim of the high serve is to get the shuttle as high and as far back in the court as possible.
6. What is the aim of the double service in backhand grip?
Ans:-The aim of the doubles serve in backhand grip is to serve as low to the net and as close to theShort single line as possible.
7. What is drop shot?
Ans:- Drop shots are used extensively in both singles and doubles. Drop shot are usually disguised to make the opponent expect a smach or clear. A good drop shot can be very deceptive and can cause the opponent to reach the shuttle late and play a poor lift.
8. Write the types of service used in badminton?
Ans:- There are 4 types of services used in badminton they are as follows:-
 - a)high service
 - b)low service
 - c)drive service
 - d)flick service
9. When did India get affiliated with BWF?
Ans:- India get affiliated with BWF in 1936.
10. What is drive shot?
Ans:- Drive shot are shot that crossed the net flatly in a horizontal trajectory. It can be played both on the forehand and backhand sides.