

OBJECTIVE

The program aims at making the student understand the concept of demand and how various determinants affect the demand in an economy along with measuring the sensitivity of demand to a change in these factors.