

OBJECTIVE

The objective of this lecture is to make the students realize that in International Communication, especially in the field of business, it is very important to consider the aspect of cultural sensitiveness. In the absence of cultural consideration at the time of business communication, the business may go haywire.