OBJECTIVE

•To know the simulation technique for conducting experiments when it is difficult to observe the actual real data.

• To study the different types of simulation models.

• To know the Monte-Carlo simulation method to generate random sample using a series of random sample.