

OBJECTIVE

Every linear programming problem has a twin problem which is also linear programming problem.

These twins relationship explain the economic significance of the solution obtained.