

REFERENCE

- Boor K., Fromm H. Managing microbial spoilage in the dairy industry, in Food Spoilage Microorganisms. Ed. Blackburn C. de W. Cambridge, Woodhead Publishing Ltd. 2006, 171-93.
- Eds. Doyle M., Beuchat L. Food Microbiology: Fundamentals and Frontiers. Washington, ASM Press. 2007.
- International Dairy Federation. Continuous butter manufacture, in International Dairy Federation Bulletin 204. Ed International Dairy Federation. Brussels, International Dairy Federation. 1986, 1-36.
- Johnson M.E. Cheese products, in Applied Dairy Microbiology. Eds. Marth E.H., Steele J.L. New York, Marcel Dekker. 2002, 345-384.
- Kornacki J., Flowers R., Bradley R. Jr. Microbiology of Butter and Related Products, in Applied Dairy Microbiology. Eds. Marth E., Steele J. New York, Marcel Dekker, Inc. 2001, 127-50.
- Schroder M.J.A., Cousins C.M., McKinnon C.H. Effect of psychrotrophic post pasteurisation contamination on keeping quality at 11 and 5 °C of HTST pasteurised milk in the UK. Journal of Dairy Research, 1982, 49 (4), 619-30.
- Varnam A.H., Sutherland J.P. Liquid milk and liquid milk products, in Milk and Milk Products: Technology, Chemistry and Microbiology, Eds. Varnam A.H., Sutherland J.P. London, Chapman and Hall. 1994, 42-102.
- Wilbey R.A. Microbiology of Cream and Butter, in Dairy Microbiology Handbook: The Microbiology of Milk and Milk Products. Ed. Robinson R. New York, John Wiley & Sons, Inc. 2002, 123-74.
- Rhea Fernandes 2008. Microbiology handbook Dairy products Leatherhead Publishing, a division of Leatherhead Food International Ltd. Randalls Road, Leatherhead, Surrey KT22 7RY, UK

LINKS

<http://www.fao.org>

<http://www.leatherheadfood.com>

<https://www.eolss.net/Sample-Chapters/C10/E5-08-04-03.pdf>

www.efreshglobal.com