

ASSIGNMENT

1. Visit the nearest beer production industries to collect the information on production technology
2. List out the different beer types available in the local market.
3. Make a list of different raw materials used for different types of beers
4. Make a list of effects after consumption of beer.
5. Outline the flow chart for the beer production using barley.
6. Collect the information on global production statistics of beer.
7. List out any local or traditional beers available in around your place
8. Give an account on advantages of using microbes as inoculants for the beer production.