

OBJECTIVE

- To acquaint students with general concept and classification of chromatographic techniques.
- To acquaint students with working principle of chromatography and various detection methods.
- To acquaint students with factors that determine the efficiency of chromatography and its applications.