

OBJECTIVE

- From this chapter student would gain knowledge on the various aspect of biscuit production, requirements and the proportions of the different ingredients to manufacture variety of biscuits. The grouping of biscuit based on the types of methods and the sequence of steps in making biscuits can easily be followed from the contents. The different types of biscuit production and their prerequisite are also mentioned.