

OBJECTIVE

- To provide a general idea about the sorghum as an underutilized crop.
- To provide information about the nutritional value of sorghum.
- To give the production and worldwide distribution of sorghum crop.
- To describe the main constraints that have reduced the potential utilization of sorghum.
- To provide the information about different types of products that have been developed from sorghum worldwide.