

ASSIGNMENT

1. List out the advantages of the single cell protein produced from microbes.
2. Collect the data regarding different microorganisms used for the production of SCP
3. Make a list of raw materials used for the production of SCP manufacturing companies of the world.
4. Outline the schematic flow chart for the production of SCP.
5. Mention the different types of SCP available in the world market.
6. Differentiate how single cell protein is different from animal protein.
7. List out the Risk associated with consumption of SCP.
8. Collect statistical data about global production of SCP.