

OBJECTIVE

- Students will learn the basic principles of gel electrophoresis.
- Students will be introduced to a universal technique used in biotechnology laboratories.
- Students will observe how dye molecules of different sizes and charges migrate through a gel during electrophoresis and will then draw conclusions about unknown dyes on the basis of this information.