Assignment

• Explain with an example that using utility function what is the maximum amount that one would be willing to pay for complete insurance protection against the random loss.