

Objectives

After studying this unit, you will be able to,

1. Explain the importance of using PERT and CPM techniques for project management
2. Explain the phases of any project and various activities that need to be done during these phases
3. Construct network diagrams with single and time estimates of activities involved in a project